SINGLETON WILD AND INEFFECTIVE

And Cobblers Take Second Game of Season From Mayville by the Score of 7 to 1.

In revenge for having been defeated in the opener Portsmouth came back strong Thursday and defeated the locals by the score of 7 to 3.

The game was a slow and draggy affair and very few good plays were pulled to keep the fans interested. Singleton pitched the entire game for Mayville, but was very wild and his offerings were hit all over the lot. Ferguson pitched good ball for the visitors except in the second inning when Mayville made it only two runs when Tinn and Jones walked. Kelly forced Tinn at third. Mueller tripled scoring Jones and Kelly. Dougan walked. Singleton scored Mueller with a single. This ended the scoring as the next two men were out.

The box score follows:

HEAR YEUELL! WHY?

If you have not heard Evangelist Yeuell you should do so. Mayville has not had in her midst a speaker of his ability for many a day. He has equaled and surpassed in his oratorical flights any of the prominent ministers and lecturers who have graced a Mayville platform. He is a most interesting story-teller and in the course of his evening's address, tells many stories.

He makes the details stand out clearly but does not tire you while doing so. There are large numbers of every class of Mayville citizens who are now enjoying him. The same faces are seen in the audiences nightly. Having heard him once people want to hear him again. He feeds the mind as well as pleases the ear. The high school scholars and those of the grades, will find it to their advantage to hear Mr. Yeuell, for he makes such frequent references to the choice things in literature and gives his reading with such expression. Arrangements are now being made to have a special school night sometime next week. The young people of this city should be given this opportunity to hear a man of Mr. Yeuell's ability and prominence. He has appeared regularly on the Chautauque platform. He is chosen by the management of Lyceum's courses, with the best lecturers of this country.

The place of meeting makes it easy for any one to attend with perfect freedom. The building is commodious and the character of the services, the very highest. Therefore if you have not heard Yeuell, hear him tonight. The subject tonight (Friday) is "The Cry of the Grouse."

On Saturday evening he gives his illustrated lecture on "Sunny Italy and the Romanesque." A silver offering will be received at the door. This lecture is highly indorsed by those who have heard it.

On Saturday evening Mr. Yeuell will give his first illustrated lecture. This is one of his regular Chautauque lectures. There will be some 3,000 feet of moving picture films used besides many highly colored slides which are from pictures taken by himself while in Italy. There will be a silver offering taken at the door.

GRAND ENCAMPMENT OF I. O. O. F. TO MEET AT SOMERSET

The Grand Encampment of the Kentucky I. O. O. F. will convene on Wednesday of next week at Somerset. Mr. James Childs, representing Plagah Encampment No. 9 of this city, will attend the meeting and will be advanced from Grand Senior Warden to Grand High Priest, which is the second highest in the Grand Encampment. The meeting will be held at Frankfort next year.

Chief of Police James Mackey leaves today for a ten days' vacation at Canton, Ohio. During his absence Officer Dudley Elzer will act as chief.

To satisfy a claim E. H. Bryant and H. H. Bryant against George Dale and H. Leplucky, Constable James McNamara sold a colt at public auction at the farm of Mr. Jesse Calvert in the court Wednesday afternoon to Mr. Calvert for $32.50.

Miss Mildred Bains of Riverview is on an extended visit in Missouri. At present she is with her former room mate at Christian College, Miss Lucille Ford, in Excelsior Springs, later she will visit school mates in Kansas City and other points.

Rev. W. J. Loos of Mayfield is spending a few days in the city attending the Yeuell meetings at the Growers' Warehouse.

ELECTION VALID

And $200,000 Bond Issue Is Now In Full Force and Effect, Says Commissioner Terrell.

State Road Commissioner R. C. Terrell of Frankfort met with the Mason County Road Commissioners in the Chamber of Commerce office and gave them some important information in regard to the good roads proposition.

He said that it was not necessary to build model roads in order to receive state aid; that proper resurfacing with not less than six inches of broken stone and proper crowling for drainage was all that was necessary when a good base was already in existence on the road. Roads or sections of roads with defective or no base would have to be reconstructed entirely.

He said that it would not be prudent to call another election at this time as the previous election that carried for $200,000 was in full force and effect, and that another election now for the same amount would mean $400,000, and that amount is not necessary for proper construction of roads.

Acting upon the advice of Mr. Terrell the Commission proposes to test the question of the validity of the first election through the court, which can be done before the date set for the election, June 24. If the court holds that the first election valid the election on the above mentioned date will be called off.

THOMAS P. BOONE

Re-elected as Secretary Manager of the Mayville Chamber of Commerce—Is Doing Good Work Here.

The Board of Directors of the Mayville Chamber of Commerce has re-elected Mr. Thomas P. Boone as Secretary-Manager of that institution for an indefinite length of time. Mr. Boone has been offered a better position in a larger city but prefers to stay in Mayville and continue the good work he has started.

Mr. Boone was elected to this office when the Chamber of Commerce was organized six months ago and since that time he has been untiring in his efforts to work for a "Greater Mayville." Not only has he put a number of important matters on a more business-like basis, but he has also looked after the smaller things that came before the Chamber, and nothing has been slighted.

During his stay here he has become thoroughly acquainted with the business men and the methods of doing business and aside from working for the common good of the Chamber has helped quite a few with just a word dropped here and there, making everyone feel that he is personally interested in his business and anxious to see that the maximum amount of business be done through efficiency and co-operation.

The Chamber of Commerce is becoming stronger every day and under the leadership of Mr. Boone is sure to accomplish much.

WAR DEMONSTRATES VALUE OF PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Laborers in the hundreds of mills in this country which are engaged in supplying the European belligerents with munitions of war, handling sub-contracts, or indirectly benefiting from the abnormal conditions caused by the European holocaust, are getting a concrete example of what it means to their pay envelopes if the mills in which they labor are running at full time, full capacity. Wages were never so high in our history.

The Democratic theory, as expounded by Mr. Underwood in presenting his law to Congress, was to provide rates of duty so low that they would encourage the importation of foreign-made goods to an extent which would cause active importation with goods made in America. These increased importations were expected to yield increased revenues even at the lower duties. Underwood's desire was to split our domestic market "fifty-fifty" between American and foreign producers.

The Underwood idea became in part a condition and not a theory very shortly after the passage of the Democratic law, and imports for consumption (according to Secretary Redfield's figures, (nine months) $145,000,000 over the record for the period October 1, 1912, to June 30, 1913, under the Republican tariff law, or at the rate of over $15,000,000 a month. But the ratio of duties to imports had been so reduced by the Democratic law that in spite of the huge increase in the volume of imports the revenues declined so alarmingly that Secretary of the Treasury Mr. Adoo was prompted to befuddle the public by devising an entirely new system of accounting, and no sooner did the war break out than the Democrats seized upon that opportunity to saddle us with a "war tax" to hide the deficiencies of their tariff law.

The Republican policy of protection is designed to give our manufacturers first consideration in our home market. If the foreigners wish to enter our market they must pay rates of duty measured by the difference between the very low wages paid by them to labor and the wages we pay to our workmen. That the fact that Republican tariff laws, without injuring American industries and putting laboring men out of employment, have been uniformly adequate revenue producers. They have given our workmen jobs and have not subtracted from their pay-checks by levying direct taxes.

The Democratic argument of "goods for goods" is unsound under the prevailing differences in labor costs. Let the foreigners take our goods and balance the account with cash. The man who sells groceries may pay out part of his net profits for clothes, rent, etc., but he would be a poor business man who could not make his business credit him with a bank account. If American manufacturers can be assured of the home market they can proceed confidently to the conquest of foreign markets. This means that they can keep the mills going at full blast, keep labor continuously employed and the resulting higher efficiency will mean better wages and bigger dividends, and thousands of small stockholders should appreciate this.

If running at full capacity results in the piling up of a surplus let our manufacturers sell it abroad, at reduced prices, if necessary to capture foreign trade. It will hurt nobody but our competitors, and trade has not yet reached the philanthropic stage. When commercial war and actual war have ceased we will disarm and have free trade, but the time is not yet. Biding the arrivals of that Utopian period it will be good horse sense to have a party in power which will protect American industries and uphold American honor, and that party is most emphatically not the Democratic party. The wise workmen will look to the future and vote the Republican ticket this fall.

OUR REGULAR ARMY.

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

At his very prime Marshal Murat never had better cavalry than Colonel George A. Dodd has led into Mexico. And no infantry from Caesar's Tenth Legion down excelled the regular infantry of the United States army.

The American regular isn't a man. He is an institution. For staying put he has no peer. He never gets excited, never wavers, never loses his head, and never runs in the wrong direction.

When the Civil war came and many southern army officers resigned to go with the Confederacy, the regular in the ranks from no matter where stuck to the old flag and he fought through the war for the Union.

A superintendent of West Point once observed: "In the American army there is a dual level of competency."

The smallest regular army which the United States has had in the 141 years since Washington created the first regular or Continental army, was eighty men.

Those eighty were artillerymen, being the very battery which Alexander Hamilton had recruited in 1776. A year after the revolution ended, Congress enacted on June 2, 1784, a law to disband the whole Continental army with the exception of twenty-five men to guard the military stores at Ft. Mifflin, which is now Pittsburgh, and fifty-five men to guard the military stores at West Point.

There was to be no officer with rank above a captain. This very slender military fluk of eighty men is all that joins our regular army of today with the Continental army of Washington, but that link, weak as it became, was never broken.

That small organization of troops in the pay of the United States never lost its identity, and it is today, Company E, Fourth Regiment of Artillery, U. S. A. It is exactly as old as our national independence.

There was Indian trouble on the northwest frontier at the time the Continental or regular army was disbanded, so Congress asked Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and New Jersey to raise 700 militiamen to defend the settlers.

Pennsylvania contributed 260, which was the largest state quota. It was, however, only a sad makeshift, and in April, 1785, a new regiment of regular troops was organized.

That regiment has retained its identity ever since, and is now the Third Regiment of United States Infantry—the oldest regiment in our army.

It was always found that when real trouble arrived the militia failed to meet the crisis, and that regular troops had to be called into being. Between the Revolution and the founding of our present government under the constitution, the chief military officer was called "Secretary of War." General Lincoln was the first to hold that office, being succeeded by General Knox. When Washington formed his cabinet he made Knox his first Secretary of War.

BITTER REDUCE HANDED DEMO. CRATS ON POINT OF CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Washington, D. C.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., gives out the following statement at its Washington headquarters:

"Much of the extravagance and most of the inefficiency of the public service under the present administration, is due to violation of the principle of civil service reform and disregard of the spirit and letter of the classified civil service law.

"Although the Democratic party was pledged in its platform to maintenance of the merit system in government service, and although President Wilson, as a former officer of the Civil Service Reform League, was pledged to the practice of the principles he had professed, yet from the day of its inauguration, this administration ignored its pledges on this subject, and has been utterly oblivious to the demoralizing effect of its policy upon government employees and government service.

"At every opportunity the Democratic Congress has set aside the provisions of the classified civil service law and filled government positions in accordance with the theory that 'to the victors belong the spoils.'

"The first act passed by the new administration was at a special session called for the revision of the tariff and that law, the Democratic party exempted from the civil service regulations the deputy collectors to be employed in the collection of the new internal revenue taxes.

"In the first general deficiency bill a provision was inserted exempting from the classified service the employees of Customs Collectors and United States Marshals.

"The Federal Reserve Bank Law provided that appointments of the board should be exempt from the classified competitive test.

"Similar provisions were made regarding the Federal Trade Commission, and commercial attaches, and presumably will be in the case of a tariff commission if such a body shall be created by this administration.

"In classifying 45,000 fourth-class postoffices, this administration pretended to make appointments as the result of a competitive test; and numerous appointments have been made in the rural delivery service, purporting to be conducted in accordance with the spirit of the civil service law, but the fact that the list of eligibles was submitted to Democratic Congressmen or others holding partisan positions, together with the fact that the Department declines to permit inspection of the records, leave no room for doubt that partisanship rather than merit has been the controlling factor in determining appointments.

Every postoffice inspector appointed by this administration is a Democrat.

"In the last administration such exclusive partisanship in the postal service did not prevail. Where four-class postoffices had been placed in the classified service under the Republican administration, the highest man on the eligible list after examination was given the appointment, even to the extent of appointing as postmaster a man who was chairman of the Democratic central county committee. The man who is today General Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service is a Democrat and was a postoffice inspector in charge of a division under Republican administration.

The present chief inspector of the Postoffice Department is a Democrat and was chief of the division of Salaries and Allowances under the last administration. Many other Democrats were given positions of responsibility under the Republican administration.

"Not one of the heads of bureaus in the postoffice department under the present administration had a day's experience in the postal service prior to the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson.

"This overthrow of the merit system has given us the poorest mail service within the recollection of this generation. Delay in transmission and delivery of mail has been embarrassing to business men in all parts of the United States. Postal employees have naturally lost interest in their work at the same time that they have become convinced that their superiors are more interested in the distribution of political rewards than they are in the maintenance of a high standard of service.

"While it is probable that the administration will ultimately pose as a convert to the principle of civil service reform, just as it has posed as a convert to preparedness, to a tariff commission, and various other policies, and will endeavor to cover up its shortcomings in government service by the plea that the President 'kept us out of war,' yet when the voters of the country come to judge this administration by its entire record, it is hardly credible that they will overlook this and other flagrant violations of the confidence of the public, the betrayal of the public welfare, and the destruction of high standards of public ethics."

The more you starve it, the more it grows. We mean anti-uptal love.

NORTHERN KENTUCKY

Bids Big Representation on Honor of Knights of Columbus.

Louisville, Ky., May 10.—With the close of the state convention of the Knights of Columbus the delegates returned home Wednesday, after a short but strenuous session. Northern Kentucky was very much in evidence, especially in the elections, as their candidate for State Deputy of the order, Jas. J. O'Brien, Lexington, defeated the incumbent, A. B. Oberst, Owensboro, and D. M. Cooper, Elizabethtown, on the first ballot.

Covington Council was honored by having Edward J. Tracey elected State Advocate over W. T. Drury, Morgantown, the latter being the incumbent for the past three years. Another Northern Kentucky victory was the election of Frank O'Donnell, Maysville, as delegate to the Supreme Convention at Davenport, Iowa, in August.

George Buckley, Louisville, is State Secretary; Henry Whelan, Bardonia, as State Treasurer; Dr. J. M. O'Connor, Elizabethtown, as Warden, and Rev. J. T. Krime, McQuady, as Chaplain, succeeded themselves.

The missionary movement in Kentucky, inaugurated two years ago by the State Council, was enthusiastically approved and its continuance put on a firmer basis.

HOBSON DEFEATED

Birmingham, Ala., May 10.—The official complete returns tonight from yesterday's Democratic primary gave William H. Hobson a majority of 153 over former representative Hitchmond P. Hobson for the nomination for Congress in the tenth Alabama district. Hobson claimed the nomination by a majority of 63 and announced he would contest if the official count showed otherwise.

LOOT IN CHURCHES

Dublin, May 10.—Churches are being used by looters as convenient depositories for their loot and the clergy is cooperating with the authorities in an endeavor to restore the articles to their owners.

All residents of Myers, Kas., have united in a pledge not to drink, smoke or chew for one year. It is suspected that this year's crop of cheerful hars in this town is going to be a record-breaker.

Retrospection ceases in middle age, to be resumed on the downward stroke.

D. HECHINGER'S WILL

Filed in Mason County Court Thursday—Leaves Large Estate—Firm of D. Hechinger & Co. To Be Continued For Five Years.

The last will and testament of the late David Hechinger was filed in the Mason County Court Thursday and is as follows:

I, David Hechinger, being of sound mind and disposing memory, and revoking all other wills by me heretofore made, do make and publish this my last will and testament, to-wit:

FIRST: I direct that my just debts and funeral expenses be paid.

SECOND: I devise unto the Federated Jewish Charities, of Baltimore City, Maryland, the sum of two hundred dollars.

THIRD: I devise unto my granddaughters, Louise Fox, daughter of my daughter, Henrietta Fox, of Baltimore City, Maryland, and Rebecca Hechinger, daughter of my son, Ferdinand Hechinger, of Maysville, Kentucky, each the sum of one thousand dollars, to be paid over to them with the accumulated interest thereon when they respectively arrive at legal age and meanwhile to be held in trust for Henrietta Fox, as trustee for Louise Fox, and Rebecca Hechinger, as trustee for Rebecca Hechinger.

FOURTH: I devise unto my daughter, Henrietta Fox, wife of Benjamin D. Fox, of Baltimore City, Maryland, the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, said sum to be paid by executors to the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of said Baltimore City, as Trustee for my said daughter, and to be held, managed and controlled by said trustee in trust for my said daughter during her lifetime, paying over to my daughter, semi-annually during her lifetime, the net income derived therefrom. My said daughter may dispose of the principal of said trust fund by will, and, upon her death, said principal of said trust fund shall be paid over by said trustee to the executor of her will to be distributed in accordance with her directions as expressed in her will. Should my said daughter leave no will disposing thereof, then the said principal of said trust fund shall be paid over to her daughter, Louise Fox, provided she shall have reached thirty years of age, if not then said trust fund shall continue in the management and control of said trustee, to be paid over to her when she arrives at said age, in the meanwhile said trustee to account and pay her, said Louise Fox, semi-annually, the net income derived therefrom, of said sum of twenty-five thousand dollars to be bequeathed by executors shall pay over to said trustee from the proceeds of policies of insurance upon my life, made payable to my estate, when collected the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, the remaining ten thousand dollars to be paid to said trustee from other assets of my estate when available for that purpose.

FIFTH: I devise unto my son, Ferdinand Hechinger, of Maysville, Kentucky, absolutely, the note which he gave me when admitted as a partner in the firm of D. Hechinger & Co., with all accrued interest thereon. I also devise to him absolutely my two houses on West Front street in Maysville, Ky., (except that my wife shall have the right to occupy either one of them as a home so long as she lives as she may select) and also my one-third interest in said West-end property known as the Park House property, owned jointly by J. C. Thomas and myself. This bequest I estimate as equal in value to the bequest made to my daughter, Louise Fox.

SIXTH: All the rest and residue of my estate real, personal and mixed, and where-so-ever situated, I devise unto my wife, Louise Hechinger, for and during her natural life, and after her death to be divided equally between my son, Ferdinand Hechinger, and my daughter, Henrietta Fox, the share of my son to be taken and held by him absolutely and the share of my daughter to be paid over to the same trustee and to be held and disposed of in the same manner as provided in the Fourth clause of this will, except, however, that my son shall be paid the sum of five thousand dollars, when and as provided in the Seventh clause of this will. I name my son, Ferdinand, as trustee for my wife, to take charge of and manage for her the interest and estate herein devised to her for her life, and to pay over to her the income therefrom so long as she lives.

SEVENTH: It is my will and desire that the firm of D. Hechinger & Co., shall continue without change for the period of five years after my death, and that my interest therein and the profits therefrom shall continue without change until the end of said period, the share of the profits that would come to me, if I were living, to be paid over from time to time as can conveniently be so done to my wife. At the expiration of said five years I direct that a settlement

WALTER J. MILLIARD TO SPEAK HERE

An opportunity to hear a thinker and an orator, Walter J. Milliard of Cincinnati, will speak in Maysville, May 19, at 8 p. m. at the Washington Opera House, on the subject of the "Humane Club—in Both Senses."

For two years Mr. Milliard has been before the public as a lecturer on political and economic questions. Earnest with the earnestness of conviction; sympathetic with the sympathy of an experience that covers two countries and many phases of life; learned not only with the learning of books, but with the learning of labor physical as well as mental. Enthusiastic with the enthusiasm of youth, yet with the poise and self-restraint of the student and thinker. No one can listen to Mr. Milliard without pleasure, few without conviction. But whether one agrees or disagrees with his conclusions, every one should take this opportunity to hear a finished orator speak.
